

(Backlinks) Blog Income Pattern changes with your blog age!

Contributed by Webmaster
Saturday, 25 July 2009
Last Updated Saturday, 25 July 2009

More info...

When I started monetizing D$, the majority of the peanuts then used to come out of Google AdSense. Then slowly I started diversifying into other income streams such as paid reviews, blog ad networks, referral-affiliate methods, private ad sales etc. In the last four to five months or so - perhaps due to the recession - the AdSense CTR and eCPM values have been pretty bad for me. At the same time, the blog income was steadily increasing as well - thanks to some of the monetization instruments m

Posts about Gizmodo as of July 25, 2009

Hey Look, Another Blue Screen of Death Image Cache - dealwithtech.com 07/25/2009 Eagle-eyed reader Shawn spotted this nice little discrepancy thats sure to start one of those awesome Mac vs. Read the whole story on Gizmodo
Related posts: The Blue Screen of Death Read More Related posts: The Blue Screen of Death Survival Guide
Decodes Your System Crash Troubleshooting Getting a Blue Screen of Death is never a Xbox 360 with 512MB of internal storage spotted Eagle-

Webhosting : Building running
&
managing your own Server Farm

Hostgator and Bluehost are our best webhosts and godaddy.com is the best domain registrar. This web hosting thread started by Mavus On 25 July 2009 Building, running and managing your own Server Farm. This thread is dedicated to those who find themselves on or considering this path. Here, I am not hosting any foreign business interests or associating with any other hostile networks. I am needing to create many sub-nets, with 3 to 5 WANs inbound and outbound. I ha

lifeIO: A Social Media Dashboard That Combines Email, RSS, And Just About Everything Else

For many people, the web has fallen prey to information overload from RSS readers to Email to social networks, weve all got vast amounts of data coming in at any given time, oftentimes to entirely different places. Many services have sprung up to try to tackle this problem, including FriendFeed , but most of them dont even try to integrate Email. LifeIO is a new startup launching today in private beta thats trying to do it all, with integration of Email, calendars, and your social networ

Full Disclosure: Sponsored Conversations on Twitter Raise Concerns, Prompt Standards

In light of the FTCs recent scrutiny of Social Media practices and the activity that connects brands to influencers and ultimately consumers, we will soon see guidelines and corresponding penalties to serve as governance for future engagement. In the realm of sponsored posts or tweets, the FTC simply cannot delineate the differences between earned and paid postings and therefore assumes that most consumers are equally oblivious. With Izeas impending announcement of a new pay-per-tweet

Social Networking - The Next Great Marketing Medium

Social Networking - The Next Great Marketing Medium? Social Networking - The Next Great Marketing Medium? ?by: Rob Sullivan There has been a virtual explosion of social networking sites in the past couple of years. Even the big players like Google, Yahoo and MSN are getting into it. With so much interest in how social networks work, one begins to wonder if there is marketing potential within these social networks? Ive been watching social networking for some time now. In fact Im a member of